FINE RIDING

Based on Solid Foundations

UTA GRÄF and CHRISTOPH HESS, with PFERDIA TV

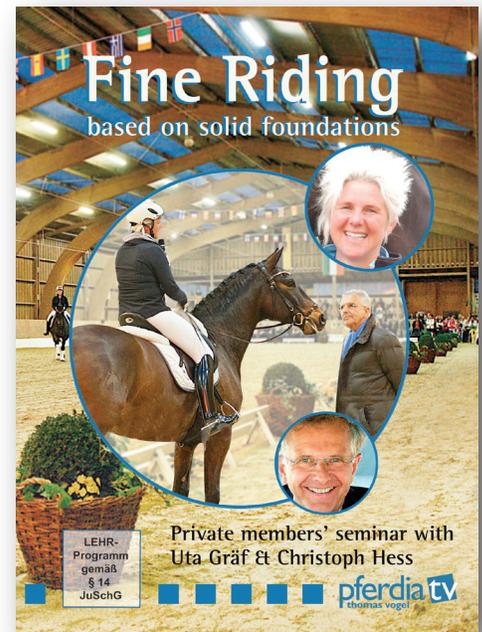

Trafalgar Square Books is pleased to announce the release of Fine Riding by Uta Gräf and Christoph Hess.

Whether it's dressage, show jumping, cross-country, or pleasure riding, the aims are the same: having a good time while riding, enjoying the company of your equine partner, and looking after your horse in an appropriate manner while achieving your personal goals. Uta Gräf's training philosophy proves that competing successfully, tending to horses considerately and keeping their conditions as close to natural as possible, and training using the correct guidelines are not mutually exclusive.

This DVD preserves a private seminar held for members of the German National Equestrian Federation, so that Uta Gräf and Christoph Hess can show everyone how it's possible to achieve a fine, classical riding style on motivated horses, using horses of different ages and at different levels of training.

UTA GRÄF has been a member of the B-Kader dressage team since 2011 and was on the long list for the London 2012 Olympics. Her unusual combination of ambitious dressage riding and natural horse care in groups with open stabling have made her a trailblazer of the changing attitude toward the horse in dressage. Gräf lives with her partner Stefan Schneider at Gut Rothenkircher Hof in Kirchheimbolanden, Germany.

CHRISTOPH HESS was born in 1950 and has a degree in education, specializing in adult education, and is a riding instructor with the German National Equestrian Federation (FN). Hess is the FN's training ambassador, and is a judge and trainer examiner at the highest level in Germany. He leads courses for judges and instructors both in Germany and abroad, and is a distinguished international dressage and eventing judge.

“Scrape off the mud and practice fine riding!”
